'81 an interesting mix; success and failure

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

The year 1981 was not a "banner" year for the Quad-City area, but a few positive developments gave a glimmer of hope that the economy, interest rates and depressed business climate may turn around. It makes one wonder if this area turns the corner and puts its bountiful natural resources to work.

Following is a capsule review of some of the major headlines of 1981, month by month.

JANUARY

A 15.6 percent multiplier for Granite City and 22 percent for Chouteau Township brings a storm of protest into the new year. Strong reactions are expressed at public meetings.

The city agrees with the county on a sewage treatment rate for the new county sewer system, but lack of a similar contract prohibits opening of the new sewer.

Charles Lexow retires as Chouteau Township's tax collector after 40 years of public service to that township.

The MARGE railroad relocation plan adds blueprints for the nation's largest pipeline, due to be started next year, proposed for the south of Venice.

Daniel Partney, Warren Decatur and incumbent Mayor Paul Schuler announce that they are candidates for re-election and a bitter three-month campaign begins.

A "Thumbs Up America" rally organized by Fred McColgan brings a brief period of patriotic fervor to the area and ends with cold and rain to attend an outdoor "Thumbs Up" rally.

Father Arentsen, anti-abortion priest arrested several times during the previous three years for protests outside the Hope Clinic for Women, Ltd., in downtown St. Louis, is sentenced to 10 years of probation and public service.

Third Ward aldermanic candidate Willard Herzing withdraws from the race during a court hearing on the legality of numerous signatures on his candidate petition. Herzing blames a misunderstanding of the residency laws for signing petitions.

The temperature Feb. 9 plummets to -8 degrees with a wind chill factor of -58 degrees. Outdoor work ceases and residents stay warmindoors.

The new city sewer system finally opened and the new Precoat Metals plant is the first to tap on tap.

Fire destroys George Gleason's Restaurant (formerly George Lindsey's) and arson is suspected. A faulty furnace later is found to have been the cause.

An 18-year-old male armed robbery suspect is apprehended in the down-

The true severity of the current recession can also be better evaluated by taking into account the postponement of business capital equipment investment as soon as it became evident that the benefits of liberalized depreciation under the tax legislation would not commence until Jan. 1, 1982.

During this period, the element of industrial activity has been kept on a subpar basis. Hence, it is only reasonable to assume that we shall have some catch-up buying as 1982 progresses.

Of course, the high level of interest rates also served to stifle business equipment demand, but these promise to be a less inhibiting factor in the year ahead. Interest rates have already worked down to levels that are appreciably less prohibitive to borrowers.

1982 — FROM RECESSION TO EXPANSION.

Judging from the behavior of various key economic indicators, the last quarter of 1981 will prove to be the last point for the year's business performance.

After an unexpectedly vigorous advance in the first three months, the economy softened a bit during the ensuing two quarters and then slumped sharply to close out the year impeded in a genuine recession. Thus, we have slipped into recession twice in consecutive years.

Yet, unlike 1980's credit-restricted-fostered economic drop, which began and ended within that year, the recession of 1981 will likely carry over

Life a 'black hole' for some families

By GEORGE ANN McGEE
of the Press-Record

"We're in a big dark hole...because nobody cares," tenant Charles Davis says of his apartment where blankets are thrown over the family possessions for lack of storage space and roaches crawl the walls in the daylight.

Wall boards in the kitchen are exposed in spots where plaster is missing.

The front door fails to touch the ground and a towel is stuffed between the door and the floor, to keep out the cold.

Davis, 28, and his wife, Ann, 35, recently moved into a previously empty family in Granite City that has exhausted agency's ability to help by repeatedly requesting assistance, according to George Cook, director of United Way's Community Services Referral Agency.

United Way's Community Services Referral Agency.

The Davises also point out a recurrent tenant-landlord housing problem that is not easily solved, said City Inspector Emerald Dawes.

Dawes says he has followed the progress of the Davis family for two years, through one inadequate housing facility to another here, as the family moved from apartments with faulty electrical wiring to places where sanitary conditions could not possibly exist.

Last week, the Davises were the only family remaining in a five-flat apartment building the landlord had put on the market. The landlord claims the utility company had disconnected the water two weeks ago for back payments due by the owner. When the furnace was shut off last month, two other families moved out.

5 rescues for GC lifesaving expert

Andy L. Knott of Granite City has saved five lives in an eventful Navy career — with more rescues likely in the future.

The son of Mrs. Thelma Knott, 2907 Roosevelt Ave., he is a search and rescue aircrewman who has been in-olved with rescues of downed aviators and of civilians from burning boats.

"It's an extremely rewarding job, but you really have to be motivated to qualify for a search and rescue team," Knott says.

"The training is tough, and you have to be in excellent physical condition. It's also important to be very safety conscious. Most of all, you must care about human life."

The 1979 Granite City high school graduate is a member of Helicopter Combat Support Squadron 16, based in Pensacola, Fla.

He not only serves as an aircrewman on the HH-46A Sea Knight helicopter during search and rescue and other missions, but he is also the assistant search and rescue model manager for the Navy.

"The model management program is a Navywide program," he explained. "We develop new gear and evaluate every search and rescue that does search and rescue. I answer questions from people all over the world."

A search and rescue team consists of a pilot, a co-pilot and an enlisted crew chief and rescue swimmer. Knott's squadron also has a hospital corpsman on the team.

"First, you become a rescue swimmer," Petty Officer 1st Class Knott related.

"A rescue swimmer has to be able to swim a mile and disentangle a man from a parachute in both daytime and nighttime situations. A parachute can pull a man down with seven metric tons of drag."

"The swimmer jumps from the helicopter in daylight, and is lowered by hoist at night. If he jumped at night he would be dead," he commented.

"He has to learn lifesaving holds and releases, cardiopulmonary resuscitation and first-aid techniques.

"The crew chief is a qualified rescue swimmer who has also learned to operate and maintain the hoist and to troubleshoot problems that develop in the aircraft."

Knott helps train rescue swimmers and crew chiefs.

"I've been involved in search and rescue ever since I came into the Navy," he said.

"I'm 25 now and I joined Navy enlisted in the sea service in January 1974."

He attended recruit training at the Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Training Station and schools in Memphis, Tenn., and San Diego, Calif., before serving as a search and rescue crewman at the Naval Air Station, Meridian, Miss.

"I joined the Navy because there were limited job opportunities at home, and I didn't feel ready to go to college."

Knott joined Helicopter Combat Support Squadron 16 in June 1978.

"I was being an aircrewman and had responsibility for the electronics shop when I first joined this squadron," the aviation electronics technician said. "It's hard trying to divide your time between the shop and flying."

Fleet Combat Support Squadron 16, nicknamed "The Bulldogs," has 50 officers and 20 enlisted members who fly and support the squadron's 13 HH-46A Sea Knight and four UH-1N Iroquois helicopters.

Besides providing search and rescue support for the aircraft carrier USS Lexington and other Navy ships, the squadron assists the Coast Guard with search and rescue in the Gulf of Mexico.

The HH-46As move people, equipment and supplies to Navy ships at sea.

The squadron also trains pilots to fly the HH-46A. And it trains aircrewmen, maintenance people and pilots in the UH-1N trooper utility helicopter.

"I'm involved in search and rescue, cargo transport, drone recovery and aircrew training," Knott reported.

"I'd like to see rescue crews get more money. We're involved in hazardous work," he commented.

The eight-year Navy veteran has deployed with the squadron aboard the multi-purpose amphibious assault ship USS Saipan and the helicopter carrier USS Iwo Jima.

"I like the Navy, traveling and the benefits it offers — like medical and dental care. If I got the right job offer, I'd be tempted to accept it. I could make a lot more as a civilian electronics technician."

"But right now I plan to stay. I don't think I could find a more rewarding, challenging job anywhere."

NAVYMAN ANDY KNOTT of Granite City answers questions from search and rescue aircrews Navywide. He is also part of a team which evaluates new equipment and takes a look at the performance of the Navy's search and rescue teams.

town area despite his "disguise" of women clothes, a mask and fake beels.

George Doggett is sentenced to 60 years in prison for the beating death of an 8-month-old Granite City girl.

MARCH

Major candidate Warren Decatur also files that Tom Bremmer offered him "favorable" to withdraw from the mayor's race and warned him that serious allegations would be made against him if he remained in the running. Decatur takes the allegations to the state's attorney's office.

Two home invasions in two days, the first on Briarwood Lane and the second in the 2200 block of Edison Avenue, leave many frightened and lead to calls for bed-up police protection.

The Madison Trojan basketball team is welcomed home as the new state champions. A hero's welcome.

The Post Office increases postage for a first-class letter from 15 to 20 cents and issues the non-denominational "state stamp."

What is heralded as "The Great Debate" takes place in the American Legion Hall as an overflow crowd listens to the three candidates for mayor answer questions prepared by the Chamber of Commerce.

NEW YEAR'S BABY. It's a girl, Jessica Marie became the first baby born to a Quad-City area family, arriving at 12:03 a.m. New Year's Day at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital, Maryville. She is the first child for Don and Susan Jones, 2540 Parkview Drive, Apt. 13. She was due in time for Christmas, but the Jones say they are happy to have a healthy 9 pound, 6 ounce baby, even if they just missed a 1981 tax deduction.

common ground in a rapidly changing banking environment," Fitch said.

According to William J. Hocter, executive vice-president of the Illinois Bankers Association, "The congress will include federal legislative and regulatory issues and state legislative issues. We have invited a number of very prominent speakers including Murray Wiedenbaum, the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, the members of the Congressional banking committees and senior regulatory official to address the bankers," Hocter said.

The invitation list of participants reads like a "Who's Who of Illinois," which includes the leadership families of the Illinois Bankers Association, the Independent Community Bankers of Illinois, and the Association for Modern Banking. Illinois' top banking representatives of national level associations, he added. Also included are the chief executives of the money center banks in Chicago and St. Louis and directors from the Federal Reserve Banks in those two cities.

The congress is the first step of a process to bring all Illinois bankers together to discuss issues important to Illinois and its people. "There are many more positions we have in common than in division," Frick concluded.

Contracts for lighting, callbox system repairs

The Illinois Department of Transportation has awarded a $9,889 contract to Rite Electric Co., Granite City, for Randolph County navigation lighting system repairs at two locations: on the bridge carrying Ill. 10 over the Gas-Relief Road over the Kaskaskia River east of Ellis Grove, and the bridge carrying Ill. 3 over the Kaskaskia River at Evansville.

Rite, newly awarded is a sole contract for maintaining the motorist aid call box system for 12 months on Interstate 55 between the Ill. 55-70-270 interchange and Ill. 203, on Ill. 70 between 55-70-270 and the Missouri side of the Mississippi River bridge and the Ill. 55-70-270 interchange, all in Madison and St. Clair Counties.

Midwest Sun-Ray Lighting & Sign Co., Inc., Granite City, will do the work for $30,064.

Tom Thebeau to lead Rotary club

Tom Thebeau of Granite City, a local State Farm insurance agent, was elected last week as president of the Granite City Rotary Club for the July 1982-June 1983 year. Robert Maxwell is the 1981-82 president.

Also newly elected were Willie Seim as first vice-president, Tom Ross as second vice-president, Robert Stack as secretary, Kirk Johnson as treasurer and Kenneth Pitts as sergeant-at-arms.

Succeeding Richard Suess, Elmer Baker and Robert Jones as members of the board of directors will be Robert Forster, the Rev. Louis Fried and David Hutchinson. Continuum as Rotary Board members will be Paul Mihalich, Earl Dotzauer, Herbert Scherer, Donald Van Horn, John Koenig and William.

Thebeau has been a member of the club since 1973. He and his wife, the former Emily Toffan, have two sons, Ryan, 10, and Patrick, seven.

Born in Madison and a lifelong Quad-City area resident, Thebeau attended Madison schools and graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He served in the U.S. Army in Germany from 1966 to 1968.

His late father, Harry Thebeau, was president of the Madison Rotary Club, now Madison-Venice Rotary.

In the Granite City club, Tom Thebeau has served as chairman of the prayer breakfast group and as chairman of the Rotary Optimist Camelot auction.

He is cubmaster of Parkview School Cub Scout Pack 28 and is a past president of the Parkview Club. He is active in the East Side Association of Life Underwriters.

income, the Granite City Board of Education votes to trim the faculty by 28 teachers. Venice also notifies all teachers with 17 years of seniority or less that their jobs may be cut.

APRIL

A tornado April 3 tears through the Glenview area and other parts of the city, damaging or destroying 102 homes. It also skips into Pontoon Beach, damaging mobile homes and a million-dollar boat and damage.

The voters express their confidence in incumbent mayors, re-electing Mayor Schuler, Mike Sasyk of Madison and Tyrone Echols in Venice. Granite City's mayor, John Stoller, is also re-elected.

A typical Nameoki Township post-election challenge is resolved with Harry Briggs declared the supervisor by a very narrow margin and Norman Hall winning tax collector in a different election.

Pilet Brothers asks the city council for commercial zoning on Route 3 south of the Shasta Bottling plant to recycle old boxcars and other scrap metal. A large amount of scrap is brought to the plant, particularly the possibility of a smaller operation, but the city council proceeds to give the zoning to the firm, citing the need for more jobs. Pilet later announces it has changed its mind and does not want to locate here.

Pauline Lohr, head of the city's Air Pollution Control Department, announces that the city's air monitors show the cleanest air here in the last five years. She was to lose her job three months later in city budget cuts and consolidation of departments.

A number of community-sponsored area-wide cleanup programs is considered a success as hundreds of scouts and volunteers remove several truckloads of trash from the streets and parks.

MAY

St. Elizabeth Medical Center dedicates its new wing and $1 million expansion program with both religious observances and parties.

The speed limit on much of Maryville Road is lowered at the city council to 25 miles per hour after a 5-year-old boy is killed by a motorist across from Worthy Park.

The Madison County Board of Review announces that it has processed 7,000 of the approximately 9,000 assessment objections filed this year, many from the Quad-City area.

An occupancy permit plan is proposed by the city to stem occupation of substandard and inadequate housing meets with public disapproval. Some people feel it gives the city too much power over denying them permission to change residences. The city refers the proposal back to committee where it will remain much of the year.

Expenses and security problems cause the announcement that there will be no Mississippi River Festival this summer.

JUNE

Heated hearings on desegregation plans for the Madison public schools lead to some hard feelings and a

South group going to ISU theater festival

About 2,000 high school students, teachers and professionals from throughout Illinois, including Granite City High School youth, will be attending the seventh annual Illinois High School Theater Festival at Illinois State University, Normal, Thursday through Saturday, Jan. 7-9.

Sponsored by the Illinois Theater Association, the Illinois State Board of Education and ISU, the festival theme this year is "Theater: A Collaborative Art" and will include workshops, displays, four full-length productions presented by high schools from around the state, an all-state show and an opening performance by the St. Louis Repertory Company.

The all-state play, "Two Gentlemen of Verona," the musical version, will be developed and discussed on the basis of collaboration.

general feeling by the board that the majority of the residents of both races oppose busing to achieve racial balance.

High interest rates force Ed Reimagine of M.E. Hoffman Co. to close his mortgage brokerage business after many years here.

The "60 Minutes" television program films in several locations here for segments on the rise and fall of developer Jim Green. Morley Safer attracts attention as the "star" narrating the piece.

Milam East, the firm collecting garbage under contract with the city, charges that it will not accept solid and garbage pieces, unless its fees for the last three months are paid. The disclosure that bills had not been paid for months before the April election was the "tip of the iceberg" of city financial problems which were to become public during the coming months.

Construction begins on the $11.18 million SUE multi-purpose building, which will serve as the core of a new athletic program on the campus.

The county increases its treatment fee to users of the new sanitary sewers from $1.80 to $15.80 per month and a loud outcry from the public is ignored.

Sewer Committee Chairman Louis Whittle resigns from the committee in protest at the increase.

Fire causes approximately $1 million damage at the hot strip at Granite City Steel.

A large sewage pump explodes at the Granite City Army Installation. The sewage line connects the treatment plant and causing the city to pump raw sewage into ditches until the pump can be repaired.

Further budget reductions by Granite City are sought and the city council voted to reduce its budget by 20 percent. The mayor vetoes the reductions for the police, fire and ambulance services, but some cuts are subsequently made in those departments.

An emergency order by the mayor ends the salaries of all Granite City employees back to the April, 1980, levels. The employees protest and file suit.

A firebomb is thrown into the home of Wesley McClary, 1709 Courtenay Blvd., seriously burning an 8-year-old daughter and burning the father's arms. An intensive investigation is launched but the arsonist is not identified and remains at large.

The U.S. Appeals Court in Chicago upholds the racketeering convictions of former Madison County Sheriff John Maeras of Madison, his former chief aide, John Cooper of Granite City, and his predecessor, Leland Stoller of Alton.

They appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Three Collinwood men are burned seriously when the new continuous steel casters at Granite City Steel "burps" and drops the molten steel on the floor. Miraculously, although seriously burned, all three survive.

Circuit Judge Joseph H. Barr agrees that Granite City employees have the right to receive their non-negotiated salaries and that the mayor's sales and rebates is illegal. The ruling leads to the dismissal of 21 city employees in four departments.

The Granite City Board of Education, starved for cash flow due to late tax collections, fails to borrow up to $2.4 million, still taxes are received.

The threat of a postal strike is averted by a last-minute settlement between the Postal Service and letter carriers' unions.

After months of hassles and fights, the county adopts a $12,422,517 budget package, down $1.3 million from the previous year.

An abandoned baby girl is found in a grocery bag in the St. Elizabeth Medical Center parking garage. She is temporarily "adopted" by the mother, Geri Elizabeth Lohr, before finding the woman who found her, the medical center and the month in which she was retiring from the house at the end of this term.

State Representatives Sam Wolf (D-Glen Carbon) and Everett Steele (R-Glen Carbon) are "redistricted" into the same one-member legislative district. A possible election battle between the long-time friends is avoided when Steele announces he is retiring from the house at the end of this term.

Granite City adopts a new zoning law, despite intense opposition from realtors, who want most of Madison to be rezoned to residential.

Granite City teachers reject a tentative working agreement and on Aug. 24, the first day of school, only 259 teachers report for work. Students are sent home. Madison schools reach a last-minute settlement with teachers.

AN ORDINANCE FOR A "LUXURY" ON RESTAURANTS, LIQUOR STORES AND TAVERNS IS REJECTED BY THE GRANITE CITY COUNCIL, WHICH ALSO TURNS DOWN A PROPOSAL TO IMPOSE A TAX ON HOTELS.

Granite City schools finally open Sept. 3 after teachers agree to new proposal.

William "Mike" Ebersold, retired mayor of Vandalia and former city clerk dies at age of 87.

Several Granite City aldermen verbally attack the work of City Treasurer Nick Petillo, who has been unable to work regularly, due to a serious illness. Petillo defends his office and says a comptroller is needed to assist him. Instead, the council hires an accountant.

Developer Stanley Lucas announces plans for developing 85 acres on an extension of St. Clair Avenue between Maryville Road and Mockingbird Lane. The project will consist of a shopping center, a new commercial and apartment development, he says. The city approves a letter of intent to issue a $10 million bond.

The clerk then reportedly goes to the clerk $15 and said,

"Buy it smart and keep your mouth shut. Don't come outside for 10 minutes or you'll get your head blown off."

The armed robber then ran west on West 26th Street.

The clerk waited a couple of minutes and called the police and owner.

More jobs, stable bond rating, no state tax increase in 1981

Governor James R. Thompson, in reviewing despite two recessions and 1981, said last week that federal budget cuts. "There can be no doubt in state government met its greatest challenge by anyone's mind after 1981 that Illinois is the Midwest's leader in fiscal integrity," Thompson said.

"We are the only Midwestern state to retain our Triple-A bond rating and one of only 10 states in the nation to do so."

"While other states have had to raise taxes drastically cut services to keep a semblance of fiscal order, Illinois has had to do neither."

"We have cut our budget but in a way that has least disrupted the services people need."

"If the present trend continues, our state government in the current fiscal year will have a smaller spending increase than at any time in the past quarter century."

"Obviously, there have been some disappointments in the year just passed," Thompson said. "The rejection by the legislature of several plans to provide equitable funding for the Chicago area mass transit system has caused hardships. I remain hopeful that we can come to an agreement in the spring session that will keep mass transit moving at the least cost to riders and taxpayers."

Among the accomplishments of 1981 cited: The privately-funded Governor's Cost Control Task Force made a major difference in the net cost of running the government. Thompson included such cost-saving measures in both last year's and this year's budgets.

The state held the line on spending during a period when the state faced heavy federal budget cuts as well as recessions. By the end of the year, the governor had reduced the budget by more than $432 million without major service cuts and without a tax increase.

Thompson called for a mid-year summit meeting at the Executive Mansion to produce an agreement between government and labor on a $497 million package of benefit and tax reforms in the state's unemployment insurance system.

Illinois began an advertising program to the state as a good place to live and do business.

Entitled the "Magnificent Miles of Illinois," the campaign consists of $1 million in advertising money from the state and about $3 million more from private industry.

The governor helped resolve a labor dispute between heavy equipment manufacturers and contractors. He entered the negotiations at the request of both sides in the strike, which had stopped work on billions of dollars of construction projects for nearly a month.

He and State Treasurer Jerry Cosenino announced a $50 million program to help buyers and builders of new homes in Illinois. The money was loaned to firms that made still lower rates when made low-interest mortgage loans.

The two officials also joined in a project late in the year to loan Chrysler Corp. $20 million held in a special Chrysler loan fund for use in other areas, such as education and mental health funding.

He announced that the year-old hiring freeze imposed by the governor had resulted in the number of state employees shrinking by more than 3,000, saving $6 million on an annual basis. The reduction was accomplished mainly through attrition.

A new tax enforcement program will go after those who are cheating on their state taxes. The administration anticipates collecting more than $1 billion in the enforcement plan, which involves hiring of more auditors and tax collectors. In the current fiscal year, the program is expected to bring in an additional $6 million, and up to $35 million in fiscal 1983.

The state increased permanent adoption for children who were formerly wards of the state, more than 100 percent over the previous five years, climbing from 86 placements to 180.

It completed the opening of two new 750-bed medium-security prisons, in Centralia and Hillsboro, providing 1,000 new jobs. The state also announced plans to build a new prison in Vandalia.

Late in the year, the federal government approved Thompson's request to release up to $9 million from the 1980-81 low income energy assistance program to help eligible households pay part of their heating costs. The money was left over from last year's program due to the mild winter of 1980-81.

The Department on Aging began a demonstration project of foster placement of the elderly. This is being tested as a housing alternative to institutionalization of the aged and as a gauge of the extent of need for such a service.

President Reagan signed legislation in the final days of the year providing nearly $700 million for Illinois, including $190 million earmarked for state highway, rail and transit needs.

Thompson's two dozen trips to Washington in 1981 led to several victories, including saving $120 million in Medicaid reimbursements by opposing a Medicaid cap.

He and the Congressional delegation also succeeded in making defense contracts to Illinois manufacturers. And they obtained a compromise on federal penalties for state unemployment insurance borrowing, saving Illinois $70 million in the coming year and the state general fund $10 million in interest payments.

According to U.S. Department of Commerce figures, Illinois added 1,000 jobs from December 1980 to October 1981, the yearly review concluded.

Lower doctor bills possible, says AMA

Like all other living expenses, the price of medical care continues to rise. But there are still a number of ways families can stretch their health care dollars.

The American Medical Association offers these tips:

Have a family doctor. He will keep a permanent record of your medical history which may save duplicating many expensive and unnecessary tests.

Don't wait too long. Many people try to save money on medical bills by not seeing the doctor until they are seriously ill. This not only defeats the purpose of preventive medicine, but is more expensive in the long run.

Have regular checkups. If you are past 35, a complete health evaluation every three to four years is a good idea. Early detection obviously offers a better chance to control and cure disease.

Go to the doctor's office. House calls are more expensive and less efficient than office visits.

Use the telephone. A family doctor who has examined you regularly is familiar with your health history. He can sometimes advise you over the telephone about minor health problems.

Follow your doctor's orders.

If you refuse to follow the expert advice you should expect to pay for it.

Don't throw your money away.

Buy health insurance.

Today, more than 183 million Americans are protected by some form of private health insurance.

Consider the shattering effects that prolonged illness can have on family finances.

The AMA says:

Check your eligibility for Medicare. For persons over age 65, the Medicare program provides protection against the cost of illness.

If you are approaching age 65, check with your Social Security Administration office for assistance in enrolling in this program. The AMA concludes.

Life a 'black hole'

But Charles Davis said he and his wife do not have the money to leave as they wait for rent assistance from the Collinsville office of Housing and Urban Development. They said most landlords ask for deposit at the time and last month's rent. Their limited income will never stretch that far, they said.

"I haven't taken a bath in two weeks," Davis said. Mrs. Davis said she just wanted a place to wash her dishes.

"It is a tough situation," Davis said. "People sometimes are blamed on tenant abuse of property and sometimes on 'slum landlords,' which he said do exist in the City."

Davies said residents of inadequate housing are often the same families over and over again — victims of poverty, lack of work or education, or diminished ability to cope with daily events.

"Other people we follow are just the same story," Davies said. "We know people here with the same problems. They just don't have the money."

In charge of health conditions, not the condition of the buildings themselves, Davies said that when he first becomes aware of a problem, he tries to get his neighbors' discussion on the issue with the city attorney. However, he said, he can find no city ordinance which the landlord of the Davis apartment is breaking.

"We are on the owner and stay on him. If people move, we put a tag on the house," Davies said. The tag serves as public notice the building is not to be leased or rented until repairs are accomplished. "It's very hard when a person moves," Davies said.

He said most city agencies are pretty good about trying to help a family relocate. "But they (agencies) get tired of certain people. Maybe we expect too much of them," Davies said of those needing constant help.

He said he has been "worked and worked and worked" with the same families and next month the same families will have moved to some other housing where "something else" will go wrong.

Davies said he has sympathy for both Mr. and Mrs. Davis. He said Mrs. Davis is not a bad housekeeper, but, among city landlords, she has a bad reputation. "It makes it rough."

In the Davis' case, Davies said he had the utility companies turn off the Christmas tree and asked that the electricity to the building not be disconnected until the family moves.

He said he was "a little bit proud" of himself when he drove by the home and saw the lights still on by New Year's Day. When the apartment light remained on, the pot had been cut. Davies contended that the landlord was using his own means to evict the family and not the legal means available.

The family had been getting gas tanks from a company from an abandoned apartment next door. Mrs. Davis said she was used to harsh conditions, but she was cold.

The day the gas was turned off, a pot of beans on the stove had boiled for the two hours on the stove half-cooked. Earlier in the afternoon, plastic occasionally falling from the ceiling above the stove, had barely missed the pot.

Julia Lancaster, a Granite City Township caseworker, and Bernadine Hagnauer, a town supervisor, said Davies had wife of Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer, said they received a call from the Davises as soon as the gas had means of shelter or further aid from any city source.

What had happened in the cases of the Davises? According to the director of Community Services, they reported a "prioritized list" (priorities) have a "guard against." Cook said that at a regular meeting of community help agencies — held a few days before the gas was cut — the agencies all agreed that the family had put them all in a similar position.

"They were beyond further aid. They had extinguished all help available in the current guidelines," the director said.

Nevertheless, he said, he was referring to the "direct" aid and the agency that had to come from the agency's budget. He said "indirect" aid, such as advice and donated clothing, canned goods and furniture were still available to the Davises.

When Mrs. Davis had approached him about being placed under discharge, he said he gave her a pair of boots and tried to help her contact a legal aid society to enforce the tenant-landlord agreement. He said she refused to accept the telephone number of the aid society.

Cook said he did not fail to one particular family to "speak up" all the resources of area agencies. "At this point, it's between the landlord and tenant. That's what I feel."

He said he was making arrangements for the gas to be turned back on. "I told the utility companies that he has to come back in and he would try to make similar arrangements with the water company. (The gas was turned on New Year's Eve, but Davies said today would be the earliest the water could be cut off.) Cook said his agency had donated food to help her establish a home, in hopes the children could be returned.

Community Services had also "spoken with the food bank" and the family had exceeded the agency guidelines.

Captain Donald Salsbury of the Salvation Army said his agency has likewise "tagged" the family for no further aid, although his agency, nevertheless, would contribute food to the Davises for at least four occasions since July, including a Christmas food basket.

"We haven't 100 percent shut them off," Salsbury said. Salsbury said the agency has had problems with conflicting stories.

The Salvation Army is designed as an agency to offer emergency help. He said the basic function of the organization is to help people "until they get back on their feet." Some people are seen only once by the agency. He said the agency has "very few repeaters," or persons that come in constantly.

Cook said there is no other help offered by other area agencies could offer the Davises, at this point in their lives.

Cable TV presentation to the Venice council

Ray A. Karpowicz, president of First Cablevision of St. Louis, made a presentation to the Venice Council's last meeting on the system his company is considering in Madison.

Karpowicz has made use of the proposed cable TV system that has been proposed in Madison and told the council the system proposed "is excellent."

Points stressed by Karpowicz that "far exceed" any other cable system in the metropolitan area include the "Ultra modern" equipment.

Karpowicz will meet again soon with the council to discuss costs of the system to the residents and the amount of money the city may earn, if the council grants a franchise to First Cablevision Inc. of St. Louis, to operate it.

He noted that he is working on cost figures and feels that, even though the system exceeds the services offered by other cable systems, it may be priced competitive with other systems.

Karpowicz noted that his company is accepting local investors, should there be an interest.

Karpowicz was born and reared in Madison and has been connected with the television business for several years.

He currently is a cable television consultant for Pulitzer Broadcasting Co. and formerly was chief executive officer for KSDK-TV in St. Louis.

"We're pleased that the council is responding to the concerns of the citizens regarding dogs roaming the streets after dark," Mayor Tyrone Echols said.

He noted that the city only has one part-time dogcatcher and it would help greatly if more citizens would take the responsibility and cooperation and keep their dogs either tied or fenced.

"We are a small community and we need help from the citizens in a lot of areas," Echols said. "Our citizens can't be everywhere at one time. Citizens see things go on and they won't help by calling the police, and it seems that after the police do arrive, they can never find anyone who saw anything."

AUTO BURGLARY

Gilbert Keeler, Spokane, Mo., reported at 6 a.m. Thursday that his car, parked at 2266 Edison Ave., had been burglarized. Items taken included clothing valued at $400, a tool box and tools worth $150, a monitor speaker costing $25 and a vacuum cleaner.

Search for life on other planets faces long odds

By PROFESSOR F.

HENRY FIRSCHING
SIUE School of Science and Engineering

Down through the centuries, there has been a great deal of speculation about the possible existence of extraterrestrial intelligence. People assumed that the outer reaches of the solar system would be the location for these creatures.

The "canals of Mars" were one manifestation of this type of thinking. But, these ideas have proved wrong. In fact, the probes we have recently visited all the nearby planets and have found conditions that indicate there is no chance, whatsoever, for a technical society to be located on any of them.

In order to find intelligent life elsewhere, we must now look to the stars in our galaxy, and such a venture must surround the immense distances of space.

The nearest star is 4.3 light years away, which means that light traveling at 186,000 miles-per-second would have to travel for 4.3 years to reach the nearest star. That distance, 260,000 miles, is almost beyond human comprehension.

All the other stars are farther away. Some are hundreds and thousands of light years away. It will not be easy to locate an intelligent society, when it is so far away.

The current facts are rather discouraging. At this time, we do not have any evidence that there is even one planet outside of our solar system. However, astronomical information and theory strongly suggest that planetary systems are common throughout the universe. The vast distances do not make detection possible.

Life falls in pretty much the same category. We have no direct evidence that life of any kind occurs anywhere except here on Earth. But once again, scientific theory and information indicate that life should be common throughout the universe. We have the most likely situations for life, but we do not have any solid evidence to bolster that belief.

Some detailed analyses of the probabilities of finding intelligent life in our galaxy, even though the difficulties of finding one of these possible societies. Assuming a random distribution, there should be one intelligent society in about 500,000 stars. It is a very small, but not haystack-type of problem.

Apparently the best way to find such a technological society is with radio waves. Some bands of radio waves are essentially free of noise and interference in space. Any intelligent society would also know this. So by listening at these narrow bands, we have a reasonable chance of intercepting any signals that may be produced by another society.

Suppose we allow one minute to examine each star of the nearest half million stars. That would take an entire year of continuous operation, with no time for positioning the radio telescope. And the listening time would be too short. One hour per star would give ample time for positioning the telescope and sufficient time to acquire a reasonable sample of the signals from any star. But that would require 60 years of time. By eliminating the less probable stars and shortening the listening time, the task could be done in possibly 10 years. Half a million stars would be surveyed in a 10-year period.

But suppose our estimate of intelligent societies was too generous, by a factor of 10 or 100. Then our scanning time would be 100,000 hours, or 11 years. And we would only be examining each star for such a short time, less than one hour. Perhaps, "they" would not be transmitting in our direction, at the instant when we were listening, and we would miss them.

Why try to find an intelligent society? Plain curiosity is the main reason. We want to know if "they" are out there. But, actually, there is a much more important reason. If we found a really sophisticated society that had been functioning for millions of years, they could give us pointers in our technology. Our technical and social information would be enormously advanced. It could be of profound importance to mankind.

Despite the gross uncertainties involved in our scan of 200 probable stars has just been completed. Undoubtedly, the complete search will eventually be made. Can you imagine the excitement throughout the world when we find an intelligent society is made? It will be stupendous. A moment that will be unlike anything experienced before.

State studies allegation on campaign gift

State investigators plan to begin checking today on an allegation by Thomas R. Brimberry of Granite City that he gave about $75,000 to a local political campaign.

Brimberry, the key figure in a federal probe of St. Louis' Stix stock brokerage, charged related to looting of Stix accounts are possible this winter, but there have been no indictments as yet. The firm was liquidated in November.

Madison County State's Attorney Donald Webs has asked for a study by the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation fraud and corruption unit.

The State Board of Elections financial disclosure division has offered assistance in the study.

Daniel Partney, who is not a part of the Stix case, is one of the state's investigating attorneys at the St. Louis office.

Registration will be at the registrar's office at the main campus, 2401 Carlyle Road, Belleville, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday.

Registration ends Jan. 13, 1982.

Registration at BAC resumes

Registration for spring semester classes at Belleville Area College resumes tomorrow.

Registration will be at the registrar's office at the main campus, 2401 Carlyle Road, Belleville, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday.

PURCHASE ATTEMPTED USING STOLEN CARD

A credit card stolen from a registered nurse, Virginia Lepping of Florissant, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center Wednesday afternoon was used the same evening to purchase $1,000 worth of stereo equipment at a store in St. Louis County.

Also taken from her purse were $40 and three other credit cards.

Services for Joseph Medley

Services for Joseph Earl Medley, 65, of 1945 Monroe St., Paducah, Ky., formerly of Granite City, were held Saturday, Dec. 19, at the Lindsay Funeral Home in Paducah. Burial was in the Mount Carmel Cemetery, Paducah.

Mr. Medley, who resided here for several years before moving to Kentucky in 1952, died Tuesday, Dec. 15, 1981, at a Paducah hospital.

He was born in Pevely, Mo. He attended Granite City High School and was formerly employed at American Steel Foundries.

Mr. Medley was a World War II Navy Veteran and had retired in 1970 from Tennessee Valley Authority in Sam Plaza in Paducah.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Melba (Storey) Medley; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy (Dorothy) Stoen, Troy, George Storey, Edwardsburg, and Gary Storey, Florissant, Mo.; a sister, Mrs. Wandaene Maness, 61, St. Louis; 10 grandchildren; 11 step-grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 6, at Herbert A. Kassly Funeral Home, 515 Vandals St., Collinsville, where friends may call after 3 p.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in St. John Cemetery, Nameoki Road.

"We should have had them down by 15 at half-time," Shanahan said. "With our free throw shooting and our let down when we led by 10, we couldn't hold on."

In the second half, which became the turning point of the game, Shanahan was given a technical foul for criticizing a call that cost O'Fallon the ball. Whittington made the second of the two shots with 3:21 left in the game.

The technical foul was a big turning point for us," Ohlendorf said. "When Kendall made those free throws near the end was the other big turning point."

Despite North's good shooting in the third quarter, the Steelers made just 22 of 56 shots for the game. O'Fallon made 26 of 52 shots.

North, in taking the consolation championship, evened its record at 5-5. O'Fallon was 5-4 after the tournament.

"What's important to us is that we accomplished one of goals, playing in four games in the tournament, and that we're 3-1 in the tournament to even our record. One of the other goals was to bring home a trophy and we did that," Ohlendorf said.

O'Fallon was better than the last two teams we played and probably better than Joliet East," Ohlendorf said.

We played one of our best games of the year to beat them. Our press was pretty effective, we shot a little bit, and a few kids came off the bench and did the job for us."

Burd just felt fortunate to win the game. He said, "I'm glad we don't play the same team. There are two types of team you know you have to battle from beginning to end. I think that's a compliment, the coaching and Coach Deterding.

The other bright spot for South was their rebounding. They dominated the boards, outrebounding Wood River, 39-34.

Deterding said, "Our rebounding is great. For our ability, we're rebounding as well as anybody."

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Steamers of the Major Indoor Soccer League announced here Tuesday that they have signed their number one draft choice, John Hayes, from St. Louis University.

Hayes, SLU's fourth all-time scorer, had been drafted by the Steamers and the Tulsa Roughnecks of the rival USISL, which has both outdoor and indoor soccer.

But Hayes said he would rather play in his hometown.

Hayes, who is still recuperating from a knee injury suffered in the final game of the season (a 1-0 loss to Eastern Illinois), has begun running and will most likely join the Steamers in about two weeks.

The Steamers will have to drop a player from their 20-man roster to make room for Hayes.

Riverview edges GCN for championship

ROPE AND TIED. Granite City North's Rod Unger (left) appears to have Sam Givens of Granite City South in a bad situation during their third place bout Wednesday at the Granite Christmas Wrestling Tournament. But Givens recovered and defeated Unger 2-1 in the 132 pound division. North went on to finish a close second to powerful Riverview Gardens in the final team standings.

Salem frustrates Madison 65-55

Special to The Press-Record

CENTRALIA — The defending tournament champion Salem Trojans ousted from the Centralia Holiday Tournament here Wednesday when they lost a frustrating 65-55 decision to the Salem Wildcats in the consolation round.

Madison, which fell to 6-4 with the loss, had earned its way to the consolation semifinals with a victory

Tuesday over Peoria Woodruff. But against the Wildcats, the Trojans could never seem to get over the hump.

Madison trailed the Wildcats at the end of every quarter. Each time the defending Class 1A state champs would try to mount a comeback, Salem would do just enough to secure its lead at the five to seven-point margin.

The Trojans were led in scoring by Mark Madget who pumped in 13 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. Shannon Manson scored 10 points for Madison. They were the only two Trojans in double figures.

Even though Salem proved a tough opponent, the referees' whistles were almost as tough for the Trojans. Madison easily outscored the Wildcats by four points from the floor, 23 field goals to 21. But foul were the Trojans' on-going.

They were called for 24 personal fouls, compared to only 15 for the Wildcats. Madison made nine free throws. Salem made 23. It was the foul calls that the Trojans were called for, for their foul, when they were forced to in order to gain possession of the basketball.

Madison trailed the Wildcats 18-13 at the end of the first quarter and 36-30 at the halftime break. The trojans outscored Salem 12-9 in the third quarter to creep into 45-42 going into the fourth quarter. But free throws kept the Wildcats in front until the final stanza. They outscored the Trojans 20-13 in that period.

In the consolation championship game Wednesday night, the Edwardsville Tigers, a team Madison defeated earlier this season, beat Salem 63-52.

It is not necessary that those interested be able to skate, as both skating and hockey instruction will be provided. The only prerequisite for this program is an interest in learning the game of hockey. The hockey association provides qualified instructors who have been certified by the Missouri Amateur Ice Hockey Association. If the young ones have skates he should bring them along, if not skates will be made to provide skates. Other protective equipment as may be required during the course of the program will be made available by the local ice hockey association.

If it is not intended that this program be competitive in nature but rather instructional and therefore there will not be actual games. It is hoped through this effort sufficient interest can be found to start up an "In-House" Hockey Program for the next season.

GC does well in ice tournament

He scored 96 points in the four games of the tournament to lead all scorers in that department.

It was after a close first quarter against Carbondale that McConkey started to take control. He led the Kahoks to a 24-14 halftime advantage after they had led the Terriers by only 10-8 after the first period.

At one point in the second quarter, McConkey scored eight unanswered points. He scored 15 points in the period.

But as tough as McConkey's act was, it wasn't the only show in town. Wittenberg's night to shine came when Kahok also received 12 points from junior guard Marc Parker. Sophomore and Hunter and Scott Ray had four apiece.

Collinsville coach Gene Catalpa praised McConkey. "He's a natural athlete," he said. "He's got the ability to teach a lot of things, but a natural shooting touch isn't one of them."

The Terriers managed to climb to within seven points once in the fourth quarter, 56-50, but couldn't get any closer than that. But all hopes of a comeback were squelched when all-tournament center Terry Silas fouled out with a little over two minutes remaining in the game.

"I really played like we were capable of playing," said Catalpa. "I didn't think we played up to our potential the first three games here."

The Kahoks earned their way to the championship game by edging surprising Belleville East 44-43 in Wednesday afternoon's semifinal action. Carbondale breezed past Murphysboro 62-50 in their semifinal game.

The championship was Carbondale's second in the history — the most by any school.

U.S. transportation funds here include $5 million for rail relocation study Governor James R. Thompson has announced that President Reagan's approval of a new federal transportation appropriation means nearly $700 million in funds will be provided to Illinois, including $190 million in earmarked funds for state highway, rail and transit needs. Among the funds approved was $5 million for engineering for rail relocations in this area.

President Reagan approved transportation funding last month for a full year. It was one of the first appropriations approved following Congress' passage of a continuing resolution providing stop-gap funding for government programs through March 31, 1982.

"This appropriation locks up the federal transportation funds we have been seeking for the last several months," Thompson said. "Illinois is well in the current environment of budget cutbacks. We were successful in making our case for specially-funded projects, such as the East St. Louis rail freight project, and in ensuring a fair share of funds from the national pool of Interstate Transfer funds."

"As a matter of fact, Illinois received $125 million in Interstate Transfer funds for highway projects—more than any other state. Ours was one of only three states which did not have its transfer funds cut in this bill."

"In addition, we will get $15 million in earmarked federal rail funds for computer rail service in the Chicago area. Combined with more than $70 million in regular federal operating funds, the RTA (Regional Transit Authority) will have more federal transit funds available to it than last year."

"By working with the Illinois Congressional Delegation and Senators Percy and Dixon, along with many other Congressmen, we have moved ahead of our anticipated schedule," Thompson said.

"Congressman Adam Benjamin, in particular, assisted us in our efforts to secure transportation funding."

"Time in Washington working on Illinois problems is time well spent," the governor believes. He has made 24 trips to the nation's Capitol since Jan. 20, 1981, in search of federal aid for Illinois.

"We have worked hard to make sure that the federal budget cuts did not fall unfairly on Illinois—and we succeeded."

During the last three years Illinois has placed 50 percent more highway work underway or obtained the commitment of more federal funds than during the previous three years. Between fiscal years 1978 and 1980, Illinois obligated an average of $493.3 million a year in federal highway funds compared to $262.7 million a year for the period between 1975 and 1977.

"Although we have managed to keep Illinois among the top-ranked states in the receipt of federal funds, we still are facing cuts as the result of federal efforts to balance the budget," Thompson said. "We will accept our fair share of those reductions, but we will continue our aggressive efforts in Washington to acquire federal dollars for Illinois."

The nearly $700 million in federal funds for Illinois, by program category, including specifically—earmarked transportation funds for Illinois are:

—$150 million in Interstate Transfer funds for highway and transit projects in northeastern Illinois. The total cost is $2.5 million. Only two other states were held harmless from cuts in their Interstate highway transfer funds—Oregon with $6 million and Pennsylvania with $2 million.

Freeway from Rockford to Decatur and the Chicago to Kansas City highway from Quincy to Peoria for Priority Private funding.

A total of 125 million is available for the program nationwide this federal fiscal year, and the amounts for the individual states will be determined by the RTA for commuter rail service from the federal operating assistance and capital programs.

—$5 million in a Federal Railroad Administration grant for engineering on the St. Louis Metro-East Area Rail Gateway Enterprise (MARGE) project. This project would consolidate rail yards in East St. Louis and St. Louis, improving rail freight operations. It would also free prime industrial land for economic redevelopment. The plan involves expanding the Madison yard and development of a large rail to truck "piggyback" yard site.

—$20 million in preference financing—low cost government loans—to railroads—for initial construction of the MARGE project.

In addition to the earmarked amounts, Congress retained language in the Senate and House reports giving priority to the U.S. 51 state in its consideration of federal rail funds for computer rail service in the Chicago area. Combined with more than $70 million in regular federal operating funds, the RTA (Regional Transit Authority) will have more federal transit funds available to it than last year.

Governor James R. Thompson has announced the release of $6.6 million in Capital Development Bond funds for construction projects to upgrade four state correctional centers. The bond issue provides for new and improved electrical systems at Stateville, Dwight and Menard, as well as renovation of hospital facilities at Pontiac.

"These projects are just a small part of the administration's overall program to meet enormous demands placed on the Illinois correctional system today, and those expected in the next few years," Thompson said.

"It is absolutely necessary, as we work to expand the system's capacity, that the fundamental operations of existing institutions be maintained and improved, where possible."

The stateville project, at a cost of $3 million, will replace the old electrical distribution system to replace a current system that is antiquated and inadequate. An additional $300,000 will be spent for structural rehabilitation of the facility.

Construction is expected to begin in April, 1982, and be completed in September, 1983.

At Dwight, a $500,000 project will involve the electrical rehabilitation of the Administration Building and Infirmary-Cottage C-9, reach substantial completion in October, 1983. This $1 million project initiates extensive needed to replace a system that has not been substantially modified since the 1960s.

The governor's release of funds enables the Capital Development Board to provide for the completion of design work and independent competitive bidding for construction contracts, in order to meet the scheduled construction starts at the various sites.

SEMINAR ON REALTY REHABILITATION TAX

The Center for Urban and Regional Development Services (CURERS) at SIUE will sponsor a seminar on incentives in the 1981 Tax Act for urban real estate investment and rehabilitation.

The Jan. 19 seminar will be held in the Mississippi Room of the University Center from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Registration is $25, and the fee includes Jan. 19 seminar. Shamus, associate professor of accounting at DePaul University, will discuss major changes in the tax act which effect real estate treatment, among them, favorable treatment of rehabilitation credits and depreciation.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Shemwell wore a formal white chiffon princess style gown with a empire waistline, sweetheart neckline and long bishop sleeves, enhanced with Venise lace motifs. The full skirt was bordered with a lace Chantilly lace flounce and extended into a Chapel train.

Her waltz length veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a lace cap etched with pearl pearls. She held a cascade bouquet of white flowers, interspersed with sprigs of blue blossoms and greenery.

Miss Kathy Shemwell, a maid of honor with bridesmaids, Kellee Nease, Barb Danhauer, Patty Scante and Michelle Hartmann.

They were attired in blue gowns with ruffled bodices, empire bodices and full skirts with ruffled flounces at the hemlines, complemented with matching capeslets.

Each attendant carried a bouquet of blue and white flowers.

Jan Egbert and Chuck Smith, cousins of the bride, served as the flower girl and ring bearer.

She carried a basket of blue and white daisies.

The groom chose his brother, Rick Godwin, as best man. Ken Steesmer, Ed Overcheck, Bert Scante, Gary Johnson and David Tom Shemwell, brothers of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shemwell wore a mint green lace gown.

Health at any age to be studied

A nursing professor who can tell people how to stay healthy at any age will be the guest speaker Wednesday at the Gerontology Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Gloria Burgess Perry, associate professor of nursing at SIUE, will look at diet, exercise, stress-reduction, health and the use of leisure time as ways to promote wellness among senior citizens. She also will emphasize ways to maintain high level health throughout life.

The Dialogue for Senior Citizens meets at 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Mississippi Room of the University Center. It is part of the continuing series of informational sessions presented each Wednesday afternoon through May. Admission is free.

Additional information on the program is available from Lisa Pettit at the Gerontology Program at 1-692-3454.

Pension ruling in '80

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1980 that employers are required to bargain on pensions. This gave impetus to a drive by trade unions for negotiated pension plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomason

Mr. and Mrs. Thomason mark 59th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Thomason, 615 Fillmore Ave., Venice, celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary at a quiet family dinner gathering in their home because of the illness of Mr. Thomason.

Attending the event were Betty Billick of Venice, Georgia Borger, Mary Jo Stratton and daughters, Gwen and Jolene, of Granite City; and sons, Robert (Lester) Campbell of O'Fallon, Mo.

Mr. Thomason had undergone eye surgery on Nov. 17 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and had to return to the hospital on Nov. 20 for further treatment. He later was transferred to Bethesda General Hospital in St. Louis where eye surgery was performed again, and he was released on Nov. 29.

Mr. Thomason and his wife, the former Ruby May Johnson of Granite City were married on Dec. 17, 1922, in St. Louis. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford (Sadie) Warren, former Granite Cityans.

A retired truck driver, Mr. Thomason is a member of Teamsters Local 525 of Alton. He is affectionately known as "Cowboy" and is 76 years of age, and his wife is 75.

They are the parents of six sons and five daughters. Two sons died in infancy and the nine living children are James Edward of Saenger, Mo.; Russell Dale, Germantown, Md.; Kenneth David, Puyallup, Wash.; Charles Aaron, Bourbon Mo.; Betty Billick, Venice, Georgia Borger and Mary Jo Stratton, Granite City; James Rayford, Alton, and Mrs. Leean Campbell of O'Fallon, Mo. They also have 32 grandchildren and 46 great-grandchildren.

DeMolays collect for Shriner's Hospital

The month of December was a busy time for members of the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, and one project was the collection at area business places for the Illinois DeMolay "Kanes for Kids" drive.

Master Councilor Pat Gibbons announces the drive netted $76, at National Food Store, $44 at Schunk's, $30 at Shop and Save Market, $24 at Schermer's Super Market, and $10 at Rees Drug in Belleville.

David Corbett and Fred Trebing were given their "Representation DeMolay" award in a public ceremony preceding the James G. Stuart Chapter Order of DeMolay's public installation at Wood River, by Ascalon Chapter DeMolays from Collinsville. Serving on the District 16 installation committee were officers of George G. Guker Chapter were: Neal Mize, senior councilor, Jimmy K. Stuart, chaplain and David Corbett, senior deacon. Others in attendance from the chapter were DeMolays - Antonio Narvaez, Terry Perrin, Jimmy Porter, and Morris Rickels; advisors - Bill Berger and Charles Meyer; parents - Mrs. Coleen and Mr. and Mrs. Connie Mize, Mrs. Mary Stuart and Clark Trebing. Neal Mize gave the "Ode to the Flag" and Jimmy K. Stuart presented the DeMolay "Flower Talk."

Neal Mize served as senior councilor and Jimmy K. Stuart as chaplain in the District 16 installing team for the public installation of officers for John Monroe Chapter DeMolay of Staunton, at a separate meeting. Mize also gave the "Ode to the Flag" and Stuart the DeMolay "Flower Talk."

Mrs. Mary Stuart, mother of DeMolay's Mothers Club, installed the Mothers Club officers for the chapter at Staunton. Others in attendance were: Antonio Narvaez, Mrs. Charlotte Mize, and Jimmy E. Coleen. Price last week.

They were apprehended by police as they ran to a Nameoki Road shopping center.

No charges are planned by the police district, and the boys were released to their parents. Entry had been gained by breaking wall insulation. As they departed, they were seen by officers; they were then stopped. One had been drinking outside the rear of the structure and then ran eastward.

Other topics to be covered on the program include small wind energy systems, local solar systems and field studies of on-farm solar drying.

Bedding plant show at BAC

By RONALD CORNWELL
Extension Advisor

The Southern Illinois Bedding Plant School and Trade Show will be held at Belleville area College on Thursday. The program starts at 8:30 a.m. with registration.

The featured speaker on the morning program will be Victor Ball of the George J. Ball Company from Chicago. He will discuss the topic, "What's New in the Wonderful World of Bedding Plants."

Dr. Nicholas J. Natarella, Extension specialist from the University of Missouri, will cover "Choosing the Right Fertilizer for your Growing Medium."

Dr. Bill Courter, University Illinois Horticulture specialist, will cover "Vegetable Varieties and Cultural Techniques."

Other topics that will be covered include: new products and production ideas, insect and disease control update, and the place of coldframe in bedding plant production.

A trade show featuring commercial horticulture exhibits will be held with the bedding plant school.

SOLAR APPLICATIONS

A meeting on "Solar Applications and Energy Management for the Farm," also will be held Thursday, at the Jersey County Extension Auditorium in Jerseyville. The program begins at 9 a.m.

The morning program will include a discussion about "On-Farm Collection of Solar Energy - Types of Systems, Guidelines for Multiple Use."

Other topics include energy tax credits and loan programs plus solar applications in livestock systems, including solar systems for broiler houses.

On the afternoon program, Bill Peterson, University of Illinois agriculture engineer, will cover "Improving the Efficiency of Drying Systems." Peterson will discuss new developments, such as biofusible burners, trickle ammonia treatment of corn and vacuum sampling.

Other topics to be covered on the program include small wind energy systems, local solar systems and field studies of on-farm solar drying.

1981 — A YEAR

HEATED MAYORAL RACE in April saw incumbent Mayor Paul Schuler defeat Daniel Partney and Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur.

HUNDREDS OF UNION MEMBERS participated and hundreds of people lined the parade route in September for the first Labor Day parade in Granite City since 1957.

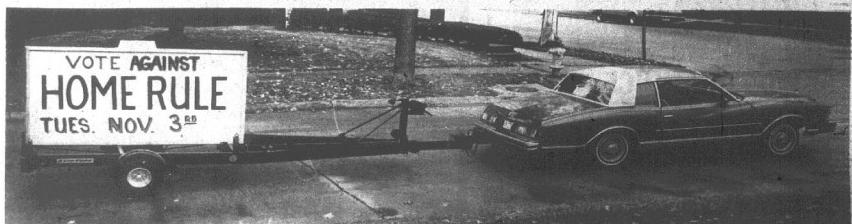

THE OVERPASS. The long awaited completion and opening of the 19th Street overpass came on a wet weekend in October. The "Overfest" celebrated the opening.

GERI ELIZABETH JULY was the name given to a baby girl abandoned in the parking garage at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in July. She was the third baby in 14 years to be left at or near the medical center.

HOTLY DEBATED ISSUE of Home Rule in the city of Madison was easily defeated in November balloting by nearly a two-to-one margin. Some voters took their message to the streets prior to the election.

R IN REVIEW

KAENDERS' PAVILION, newest addition to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, was dedicated in May. It is named after the founder of St. Elizabeth Hospital, the Rev. Peter Kaenders.

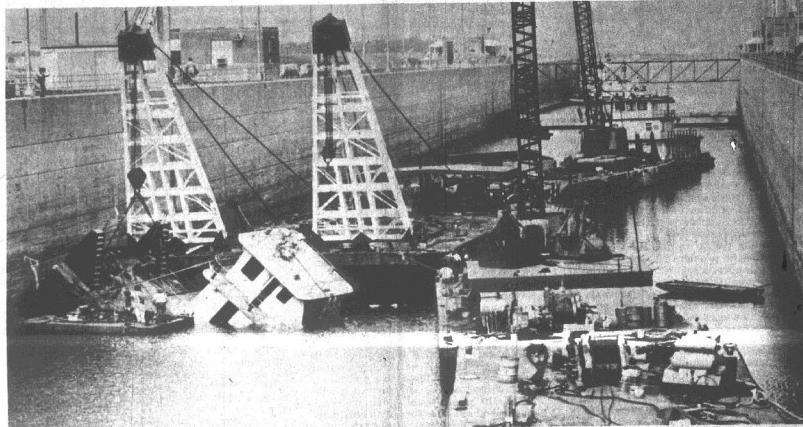

A night of devastation

Friday, April 3, will not be forgotten soon by the residents of the Glenview area and other surrounding neighborhoods. This was the day that a "small" tornado ripped through these areas and parts of Pontoon Beach blowing apart homes, flipping cars, snapping utility poles and doing considerable damage to more than 100 homes and extensively damaging four mobile homes.

Fortunately, no persons lost their lives as a result of the tornado and the residents in those areas have since rebuilt, repaired and put their lives back together as best they can.

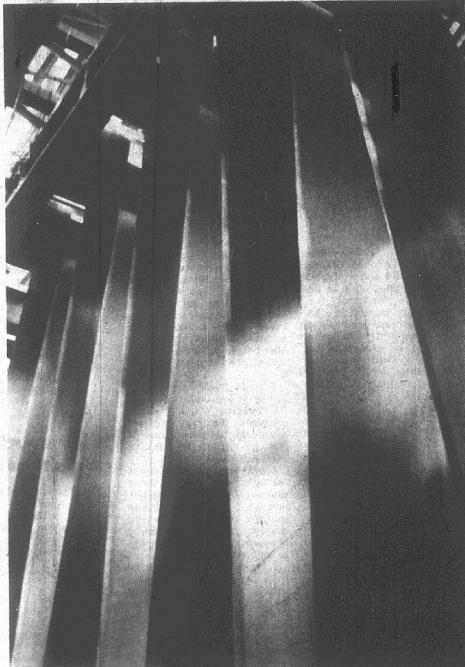

A ONE-CENT SALES TAX, put into effect Nov. 1, was ruled unconstitutional by the Third Circuit Court 19 days later. A new three-quarters cent tax, passed by the Granite City Council, went into effect New Year's Day.

RIVER TRAFFIC was slowed considerably in late September when a river tow boat sank in the main 1,200-foot lock at Locks No. 27. Salvage operations lasted almost a week.

PATRIOTISM was alive and well during the year highlighted by two outstanding ceremonies on Memorial Day and Veterans' Day.

PRE-COAT METALS began operations in early November which was marked by a ceremony and luncheon at the new industry on Route 3.

1982 goal for county, local governmental agencies — reduce borrowing and start investing idle tax funds

With the arrival of the new year accompanied by income tax law changes, much attention is being given to steps that individuals, families and businesses can take to minimize their "taxpayers" and minimize their tax obligations.

Nineteen eighty-two also seems an appropriate time to ponder how local governmental agencies can make the best use of their property tax receipts and other revenues — not only through prudent budget allocations but also through sound investment procedures.

We suggest as a New Year's resolution that all of the taxing bodies strive to have their financial resources working for them instead of against them.

The community governmental agencies need to look at the ways where they profited substantially from interest on idle funds, instead of paying out big amounts for interest on sums borrowed through advance anticipation of taxes.

The subject of receiving growing attention because the tax cycle has become a big problem for both the agencies and their taxpayers.

All kinds of municipal and school fund sources are important, and property tax collections in particular. In the news days not only in the Quad-City area but throughout Madison County.

At the county level, three Democrats and one Republican have filed petitions to seek the office of county treasurer, who is the ex-officio tax collector.

At the township level, Norman Hall is assuming the office of Nameoki Township collector and expects to decide within a few weeks whether to function as a tax collector or to delegate that responsibility to the county treasurer, as has been done in some of the townships.

The tax problem relates to inflation and its impact on real estate assessments. Assessed valuation has become extremely controversial, prompting thousands of property owners to seek hearings. The hearings have greatly prolonged the process of receiving an assessment notice.

For the most part, the rates are applied to the grand total of assessments to determine rates, and the rates are applied to individual valuations to determine the amount of each taxpayer's bill.

A new state law expediting work on tax bills and state legislation that is pending, and new approaches at the County Courthouse, including an earlier start on property tax work, may serve to speed the valuations, enabling bills to be figured out much earlier than in 1981 and other recent years.

There is disagreement over some of the procedural changes that have been publicly discussed, and their implementation will be affected by the results of the reassessments.

The results of that office undoubtedly will be subjected to more than the usual number of pointed questions from voters during the campaign.

Among the questions are whether a given individual is performing well as a public official and how such managers should be defined. What is the proper basis for evaluating performance?

If it is good to invest newly-paid taxes during the period before they are needed,

Tragic result of drinking by a teenager

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter with a tremendous concern for the health and welfare of the young population in and around my community.

There are many bars, Clair Conner taverns and places that frequently dispense alcoholic beverages to our young. I find this very detrimental to the health, welfare and safety of our community, state and country.

As you know, alcohol contributes to 50 percent of all fatal accidents occurring on the roads today; 50 percent of all homicides are alcohol-related; 50 percent of all suicides are alcohol-related; 48 percent of all mental clients are alcohol-related; and alcoholism accounts for nearly or in itself for 40 percent of all the problems brought to family courts.

On Oct. 10, 1981, my 18-year-old brother was killed in an automobile accident in which he had consumed a large quantity of alcohol. As I said, he was only 18 and was served at a bar in St. Clair County until he was quite inebriated.

The bad thing about it is that the owner of this bar was serving him while recovering alcoholics — he had one and a half years of sobriety — and knew that he was only 18 years old.

He knew that my brother should not have been drinking. I realize that it was my brother's choice to drink, but I don't think that he should have been served.

There are an infinite number of bars, taverns and places which I know serve minors. I think that it is about time someone speaks up and does something about it.

I would greatly appreciate your help. You could give me some strict actions taken against these places.

Could you please ask the readers to send responses with their feelings to their representatives, county controllers of liquor licensees, and wherever else that may be of help in taking action against such places.

New student registration

New Granite City high school students or re-entering students from North and South planning to enroll for the second semester may do so between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday, Jan. 4, through Wednesday, Jan. 13.

Students are requested to bring proof of residency when reporting to the main office of the school they are to attend.

At North students should see Mrs. Millie Chandler, the registrar.

New students wishing to register at South should ask for Fred Schuman Jr., assistant principal at South.

NEED MONEY?
1982 STATE ST.

Contends grocery negligent

To the Editor:

On Dec. 26, our family went to a local grocery, shopped carefully, compared labels and searched for the bargains. We overlooked one thing, a date on a label of a pack of hot dogs.

The label read, "full freshness? days beyond Dec. 17."

The following day, we fed our 19-month-old son, Jeff, a hot dog and beans for lunch. He took two or three bites and refused to eat any more, which was strange, because not dog was ever one of his favorite foods.

Soon after lunch, he developed diarrhea. As the day wore on, things got worse. That evening, my wife and I started to wonder if it was the first and second tank installments? How much emphasis should there be on county collection as opposed to township collection?

We do not have all the answers but are determined that these and other questions can be answered by the candidates who will be elected. Some answers have been given in public talks and at party screening meetings, but not all questions have been asked in precisely the same way. Much still needs to be cleared up in order for voters to make a fully informed choice.

Some townships obviously are ill-equipped to provide collection services and it is well that their portion of the work has been consolidated under county supervision.

A theoretical case can be made for further consolidation, as a way of avoiding duplication of clerical staffs, collection salaries and related costs.

On the other hand, there may be a bit of a conflict of interest," with the pun intended.

The longer that collections remain in county custody, the more potential there is for them to be invested and to benefit the county government, meanwhile adding luster to the treasurer's investment record.

But if the taxes are quickly distributed to taxing bodies, either from community or county collection points, the money can "go to work" sooner for the school systems, cities, park districts, townships, etc.

One of the considerations is the distance to and from the collection site, for either personal trips or mail, to Edwardsville or one's home town.

Beyond the mileage aspect, how instantaneous will be the apportionment to the government levies provide the benefit for the tax bill?

The county itself is one of the "local" taxing bodies, providing many services to incorporated as well as unincorporated areas. It has its own legitimate claim to a portion of the tax base. However, it is one of the local-level governmental agencies and qualifies for only a relatively small slice of the overall realty tax "pie."

With schools and cities so hard-pressed for money and in such dire need of earlier disbursements, the topic cannot be avoided in the debate over how to do it in a wholly detached manner. It is of paramount importance to elected officials, appointed staffs (many of them riddled by layoffs) and every citizen.

There must be a bright spotlight on officials and candidates' conduct, statements and platforms — not just general terms but utterly precise and pointed questions from voters during and unambiguous explanations.

The tax-relief ballot decisions to be made by voters during 1982 almost certainly will be issues of personality or image. Taxpayers simply cannot afford, in every sense of that word, to be guided by any peripheral or partisan aspects.

As many as 39,000 Vietnamese veterans are expected to take advantage of a one-time, one-year extension of their GI Bill delimiting date, the Veterans Administration estimates.

Extended eligibility for certain veterans programs was included in the Veterans' Health Care,
Training and Small Business
Act of 1981, signed into law by the president Nov. 3.

The extension period, which opened Jan. 1, and runs through Dec. 31, applies to veterans who allowed their 10-year delimiting date to expire before using all their entitlement for educational training.

Eligible veterans may use their remaining entitlement to obtain a high school diploma, or its equivalent, or participate in a program of job training or a program with a vocational objective.

Enrollment in college degree, flight or correspondence courses is not included in the extension.

Vets who have already used up their GI Bill benefits can still apply for the extension if they are employed by the government.

Abandoned as toddler, girl, 17, needs a parent

Seventeen-year-old Donna first came to the attention of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services when she was abandoned as a toddler. Although she was later reunited with her family, she returned to foster care after again being rejected by her mother.

Described as shy but friendly by her social worker, Donna likes playing the guitar, bicycle riding, and all kinds of sports. She also loves animals and enjoys arts and crafts.

Unlike most children raised by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, this blue-eyed and brown-haired girl because of her age — and probably her recent homes — due to her parents' rejection — nor be placed in an adoptive home.

Although two-parent families are sought for younger children, a flexible single parent — able to help — develop "survival skills" and focus on her career goals — would be considered for Donna, according to Corey Isenberg, resource development worker for the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

All department foster parents are thoroughly oriented and trained.

A letter to a bottling company, undergoing a criminal background check, having several interviews with department social workers and submitting medical information, new foster families are ready to be licensed, to attend training and to accept children.

Department and private agency foster parents are paid $1,000 per month for an infant to $212 per month for a teenager. They are encouraged to turn down any child who would not fit into their family.

Additional special fees are also available as needed. And all medical, dental and pharmaceutical expenses for foster children are also paid by the state.

HOLLYWOOD — He drives a red Ford truck, does carpentry work on weekends for relaxation, runs four to eight miles each day and doesn't eat red meat.

MARK HARMON says a big evening for him is spending time with close friends and seeing a movie, but "Flamingo Road's" Fielding Carlyle has one purpose for this lifestyle — he wants to be respected as an actor.

"I'm patient, I'm willing to wait," he said. "I have a lot of room to grow as an actor and eventually I'd like to direct as well. Acting is something I try to do well."

Mark's star is certainly on the rise. His TV movie, "Goliath Awaits" was the highest-rated show from Operation Prime Time, the effort by independent stations to provide entertainment without the networks' money. And, Mark plans to portray Kirk Kilgour in a TV project he's developing through his own production company.

"Kilgour was a UCLA volleyball player who gave up a chance to play professionally because he wanted to compete in the Olympics," Mark explained.

"While practicing, he broke his neck and became a quadriplegic. Now he coaches. It's an uplifting, up, positive story."

Mark hopes to begin filming next spring and if he has his way, the movie will give work to a number of handicapped performers. He has taken a particular interest in the talented actors who have what society perceives as a disability.

"I recently went to a talent contest of handicapped on an upcoming episode of CBS's "Private Benjamin." She played the mother in the film version as well.

The next film for GENIE HACKMAN will be "Eureka," a murder mystery which goes before the cameras after the first of the year. No other casting has been set.

Hollywood insiders say that ERICA GIMPEL will be hotter than hot once "Fame" premieres as a series on NBC Jan. 7.

Erica portrays "Coco" in the TV version of the hit movie about aspirants at New York's High School of the Performing Arts.

As one production executive put it, "Erica is Coco. She attended the high school. She comes from a mixed racial background as Coco did. And she wants more than anything to have fame in show business."

From 1955-1958 a TV series from Britain entitled "The Adventures of Robin Hood" aired on CBS. The network has decided to attempt to repeat its past success and has given the nod to a pilot based on the same famous story to be produced by Columbia.

RETURN WITH US TO... by Bill Owen, Don McAndrew

Charlie McCarthy

CHARLIE WAS BY FAR THE BEST-KNOWN "DUMMY" OF ALL TIME. HIS WIT WAS SHARP AND HE LOVED TO IMITATE HOLLYWOOD STARS. STANLEY KRAMER SPOTLIGHTED HIM ON THE EDGAR BERGEN AND CHARLIE McCARTHY SHOW.

EDGAR BERGEN BROUGHT HIS BRASH BUT LOVABLE DOLL TO VAUDEVILLE, RADIO, MOVIE NIGHT, CLUBS AND TELEVISION.

FREQUENT GUEST ON CHARLIE'S RADIO SHOW, W.C. FIELDS USUALLY PUT HIM ON THE DEFENSIVE IN THEIR GOOD-NATURED FEUD.

SHAKE HIS HAND EDGAR... I MIGHT GET SPLINTERED! YAS, INDEED.

BERGEN DIED SEPT. 30, 1978 AT AGE 75. HIS LONG PARTNER OF 56 YEARS IS NOW IN THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION IN WASHINGTON, D.C. CHARLIE MADE 100 RECORDS FROM THE 1940s ARE STILL SOLD AND UP TODAY.

World Of Music

Is Barbra the best?

By ROBIN WELLES

about time for a look back at some of the best things done by Debbie Harry and her quintet of male supporters. Among those picked were "Heart of Glass," "Dreaming" (remember this one in 1979), "Rip Her to Shreds" (Debbie wrote this one in 1977), 1980's "Rapture," "Sunday Girl" and "Hanging on the Telephone."

SINATRA - She Shot Me Down (Warner-Reprise) — The king of reggae died last May but he left behind quite a number of tapes not yet released. He sort of left behind his abbreviated autobiography in his "Soul Rebel" on this LP. "Reggae on Broadway," one of the first songs he wrote, is also here. Especially good is the low-key melancholy ("I'm") Hurtling Inside."

JIM REEVES AND PATSY CLINE - Greatest Hits (RCA) — Unfortunately, there is only one due on this LP by these two all-time great country stars, but it's a good one: "Have You Ever Been Lonely?" Other highlights are Reeves' "Four Walls" and "Welcome to My World," and Patsy's "Crazy" and "I Fall to Pieces." Jim and Patsy both died young — what a loss.

JACKSONS (Epic) — It's still the Jackson 5, but the name has been changed to "Jacksons." The two-record set captures the highlights of their 1981 tour — wish there was also a visual record of Michael's glittering dance steps. The rhythm and blues quintet spins through "Off the Wall," "I Want You Back," "Rock With You," "Shake Your Body," much more.

Is Streisand the best female vocalist of her time? Who is around to challenge her? Olivia Newton-John? — fat chance. Liza Minnelli? — close but not quite in the same league. Linda Ronstadt? — she might get Jerry Brown's vote.

And, in addition, Streisand is one of the finest actresses the screen will ever see. Like Judy Garland, she's unique to her time.
